Program:

Six Signs It's A Scam

Description:

Every year, thieves, and con artists cheat thousands of Oregonians out of their hard-earned money and valuable personal information. This presentation will help you stop the fraud before it starts and teach you how to alert others so they can avoid becoming victims. Please join us and spread the word to your family, neighbors, and friends across the state, to help them become smarter consumers as well.

Presenter:

Ellen Klem,

Director of Consumer Outreach & Education – Oregon Office of the Attorney General

Ellen is the director of consumer outreach and education for the Office of the Attorney General. Her mission is to prevent financial harm to Oregonians, especially older adults, Oregonians whose first language is not English, and students with large education-related debts. Previously, Ellen worked at the American Bar Association Commission on Law and Aging in Washington, D.C., where she was responsible for research, policy development, advocacy, education, and training. Ellen received her bachelor's degree from James Madison College at Michigan State University and a J.D. from Case Western Reserve University School of Law.

Hi, everyone.

It's almost here!!!! Credit Congress opens on Sunday afternoon in the Expo Hall - Be sure to stop by the CFDD Booth to say hello!

In deference to Credit Congress, many chapters are not having regular meetings this month. However, Portland is having their meeting this upcoming Thursday, and it looks like a good one!

Portland Chapter - via Zoom

The Louisville Chapter is also holding a regular meeting this month, but it is in-person only so I'm not forwarding the flyer. HOWEVER, Louisville is having a Summer Raffle Fundraiser, and they will cover shipping costs if the winner is not local. Take a look at their flyer, and consider purchasing some raffle tickets to benefit Louisville's scholarship fund!

By now you know what my next sentence will be.... "please share with your members..."

Thanks, everyone.

Grapevine, here we come!

Roy is the Communications Director for Attorney General Ellen Rosenblum and for the Oregon Department of Justice.

An award-winning communications practitioner, Roy's extensive experience includes media relations, issues management and strategic communications in fields of work ranging from philanthropy to higher education to electoral politics.

Prior to joining the Office of the Attorney General, Roy led communications at Meyer Memorial Trust, and prior to that, for Lewis & Clark College in Portland. Roy served as speechwriter to Oregon Gov. John Kitzhaber, and before that, as press secretary and communications director to Portland Mayor Sam Adams.

He holds a master's degree in international relations from the University of San Diego and a bachelor's degree in international relations from the University of California, Davis. A lifelong fan and student of comedy and improvisation, he fondly recalls his studies at the Second City Theater training school in Los Angeles.
