NACM's Credit Administration Program Business Law Syllabus

Purpose

This course provides students with a fundamental understanding of business law and the legal environment. This course provides a foundation of knowledge to advance to Credit Law.

Textbook

The text by Miller, Business Law Today, Comprehensive 13th edition, Cengage Learning, 2022 is used.

Class Schedule

This course will meet for 12 weeks. Each class session will be approximately three hours in duration.

Attendance

Students are expected to attend every class. However, under certain circumstances, up to two absences may be permitted. The student will be responsible for all material and assignments.

Class Participation

This class will be as participatory as possible. You will be called upon to answer questions or explain material. You may want to form groups to study, review and help each other in a cooperative learning experience. Part of your class participation will be completing any written assignments handed out or assigned by the instructor. This will count as 20% of your total grade.

Examinations

There are two exams, a mid-term and a final. They are not cumulative and are each worth 40% of your total grade.

Assignments
